

GOSPEL CENTERED MINISTRY

MISSIONS

Viewing Sheet

- If we want kids in ministry to be missionaries and on mission in their world, we have to help them see that heart transformation leads to _____.
- We have to look at our ministries as either _____ or _____. Buckets collect things. Pipes channel things.
- We don't have to add new _____ or reinvent the wheel; kids make disciples the same way _____ did.
- Jesus, through His everyday life, sought to meet the _____, _____, and _____ needs of those around Him.
- Kids can be on mission in their _____, _____ teams, _____, even in their _____.
- Are we intentionally engaging kids to share the good news so that when they are out they have such _____ to share the hope that they believe?
- Most people come to Christ as a child and who better to lead a child to Christ than _____ _____?
- How can we expect kids to be missionaries and minister to those who are hurting if we never _____ the hurting world with them?
- We may never see our kids as missionaries because we have never given them the opportunity to be on mission _____ the church walls.
- Ending a lesson with application questions is great, but when can we start giving _____ _____ to not only hear the truth and apply it but to act on it and be missionaries in their world around them.

GOSPEL CENTERED MINISTRY

MISSIONS

Discussion Questions

In what ways can we make the mistake of structuring our ministry like a bucket—where we are only concerned with our kids collecting knowledge of the gospel?

Why is it important that we strive to meet not just spiritual needs, but also physical and emotional needs of others?

How can we cast vision to our kids that they are on mission?

How can we encourage and equip our kids for mission?

What are some places where we can see our kids being on mission?

How can we share the desperate need of people in our community and around the world with our kids in age appropriate ways?

What are some ways we can be on mission together? What are some ways we can encourage kids to be on mission with their families or on their own?

How do we connect being on mission with kids who have not trusted Jesus?